

EXETER COLLEGE, OXFORD

Bornhauser Scholarship in American Literature

The College seeks to elect a Bornhauser Scholar from among students who have an offer of admission to study for a DPhil degree in American Literature (within the Faculty of English Language and Literature) at Oxford University, starting in the academic year 2023–24.

Where a suitable candidate is identified, the Scholarship will be awarded in conjunction with an Oxford University Clarendon Fund award, and together these awards will fund Course Fees and a grant to cover living expenses. Otherwise, it may be awarded in conjunction with funding from the Faculty of English Language and Literature, or it may be awarded as a standalone Scholarship (in the latter case its value will be equal to that of the Research Council's UK minimum stipend (£17,668 in 2022-23)).

The successful candidate must become a member of Exeter College and commit to remaining at Exeter College for the duration of their degree.

How to apply

There is no separate application process for this Scholarship; you simply need to apply for your graduate course by the relevant January deadline.

We will consider all eligible applicants to Oxford for this Scholarship, regardless of whether or not you state Exeter College as your preferred college on your graduate application form. If we offer this Scholarship we will also offer you a place at Exeter College, which will take the place of any earlier college offer you may have.
